

CS 410 Project Progress Report

Title: Intelligent Browsing Tool for News and Current Events

Which tasks have been completed?

At this point, the main task I have completed in this project is the planning and identification of which technologies to use in the project. Because I am making a browser extension, I completed tutorials on making a Chrome extension using HTML, CSS, and javascript. Additionally, I did a Flask tutorial to understand how I would build the framework for the python back end.

Which tasks are pending?

Now that I have the framework for how to build the extension, the next steps are to put everything together by fully developing the front and back end of the extension to meet my specific goals. Additionally, I need to test the extension on various news sites to make sure it works.

Are you facing any challenges?

The only challenge I am facing is the volume of development work ahead of me. However, I have the resources required to complete the project to the best of my ability.
